Do Your Screens Look Funny in Adagio?

If you or a technician has adjusted your fonts to make the text larger, you may find that your Adagio screens are difficult to read. Adagio forms are designed for text that is the normal size. Increasing the size of all the text results in forms where the buttons overlap, lines are not displayed properly in the Grid, and other elements do not work as expected.

Here is a technical tip for using large fonts that will work with some versions of Windows. If you're not comfortable with the explanation in the tip, please contact Customer Service.

Today's Tip – Using Filters and Styles

You can create filters in grids to select and/or sort records or transactions: Common Features - Using Filters. Add styles to filters for special highlighting: Common Features - Using Styles

- Use up to five filter criteria
- Sort ascending or descending
- Create for yourself (private) or all users (public)
- Use in grid directly or export to Excel
- Multiple filters can be selected at one time

If you're not sure how filters/styles can help your operation, please contact Customer Service.
